

MAN HE ACCUSED FACES INFORMER

Mariano de Gennaro Said to Be
First to Attack
Cuocolo.

STORY OF ABBATEMAGGIO

Recites Terrible Manner in Which Victim Met
Death.

Viterbo, Italy, May 5.—Mariano de Gennaro, who, it is alleged, was the first to attack Gennaro Cuocolo, stabbing him with a dagger, was given a chance to-day to confront his accuser, Gennaro Cuocolo.

In accordance with the criminal procedure of Italy, the alleged principals, in the murder of Cuocolo and his wife having been separately interrogated, are now, in turn, being given an opportunity to stand face to face with the informer in open court and to verbally defend themselves.

As accuser and accused stood before the judges' bench to-day Abbatemaggio recited what he affirms was the part played by De Gennaro in the tragedy at Torre del Greco the evening of June 5, 1906. He said in substance: "De Gennaro was armed with a dagger and also carried in a pocket a kitchen knife which had been taken surreptitiously from the Cuocolo home. This knife was later placed in the right hand of the dead man to give the impression to those who might discover the body that Cuocolo had been slain in a duel.

"When the assassins, accompanied by the unsuspecting Cuocolo, reached the spot selected for the murder De Gennaro suddenly drew his dagger and stabbed the victim.

"Cuocolo attempted to defend himself with a penknife and wounded Corrado Sortino on the hand, but he was soon overpowered. Nicola Morra also stabbed him, and Antonio Cerrato struck him over the head with his cane. When Cuocolo ceased to breathe De Gennaro placed the kitchen knife in his hand while others took a ring from his finger, and from a pocket a key to his apartment.

"De Gennaro then went to the inn of Min-a-Mare to report success of their mission to Enrico Alfano, while the others proceeded to the Cuocolo home and murdered Maria Cuocolo." "Carabinieri Support Confession." Abbatemaggio's confession has been supported by the carabinieri who claim to have found Cuocolo's ring at the home of a woman friend of one of the

HARROWING EXPERIENCE

A True Report of the Case of Mrs.
Nora Ortego, Who Was Finally Relieved by the Use of Cardui.

Orange, Tex.—"I used to suffer every month," writes Mrs. Nora Ortego, formerly of Redlich, La., but lately moved to Orange, Tex.

"After all else had failed, I took Cardui, and now I have no more pain and feel good all the time.

"Cardui relieved me, and is worth its weight in gold to any suffering woman."

If Mrs. Ortego could herself tell you her tale, it would surely harrow your feelings to hear it. But in cold, black type it does not look nearly so bad as it really was.

Think but a minute what such suffering, every month, must mean to a delicate lady—must mean to you, if you are one of the unfortunates thus afflicted.

Who would not willingly pay its weight in gold for a blessed medicine to drive this suffering away and bring balmy relief to the quivering, aching nerves?

Yet such a price is not asked for this popular medicine—Cardui. It is its very popularity that enables it to be sold at a price within the reach of all. Its popularity is due to its success, and its success is proof that it will help you, even as it has helped thousands and thousands of others. Try Cardui.

assassins. This ring, they claim, was to have been sent to Luigi Arena, who from his prison cell had asked for the death of Cuocolo, alleging that the latter had betrayed him to the authorities.

Sortino was found to have a wound on his hand as described by the informer, but explained this by saying that he had been scratched by a woman's hatpin and accidentally cut his hand with scissors.

De Gennaro denied every incident of the story related, and emphatically protested his innocence of the crime with which he is charged jointly with other members of the Camorra. During the exchanges between the informer and de Gennaro a brother of the latter, who was in the audience, attempted to interfere and was ejected from the room upon the order of President Bianchi.

PIECE OF RIB FITTED INTO MAN'S HEAD.

St. Louis, May 5.—George Williams, city hospital patient, can put his hands to the back of his head and feel his sixth rib. He is the only man in the city who has a rib in his head, surgeons at the hospital say. So far as known, it is the only similar case in the world.

Williams, whose home is in New Orleans, was admitted as a patient March 25. A year and a half before this he had been struck on the head with a club, and in order to save his life a part of the parietal bone at the back of his skull was removed.

The pressure of the scalp on the unprotected membrane beneath it caused an irritation of the brain cells, and the effect was that Williams became subject to frequent paroxysms.

No one there will tell the name of the surgeon who conceived the idea of putting one of Williams' ribs where it is now. Williams' ribs were taken from the back of his skull ought to be, it is said he is a member of the "Klitting staff and a strong believer in medical ethics.

Dr. A. H. Sewing, resident physician at the hospital, says there have been many cases of bone grafting, but heretofore these operations have been confined to taking a slice of bone from another. In Williams' case this was impossible, because so large a portion of the skull had been removed. The visiting surgeon suggested that a rib would do. Williams' sixth rib was removed. A piece four inches long and an inch wide was cut from the end of the rib and carefully fitted into the hole in Williams' skull. The scalp was then sewed on over it. Williams has not had a fit since the operation was performed.

SHIRTWAIST GIRLS IN PANIC.

Fourteen Hurt in a Rush Down Congested Sidewalk.

New York, May 5.—Six hundred and fifty girls, employed in two shirtwaist factories in lower Broadway, rushed en masse for the stairs following the third and fourth floors late yesterday at sight of a trifling awning fire below them. The congestion became terrific, a handrail snapped and thirty girls fell to a hallway below. Fourteen were injured, but only three had to be taken to hospitals. A great throng of onlookers gathered in the Washington Place disaster was being duplicated, watched the police and firemen as they quelled the terror-stricken operators.

Will Not Treat With Them.

Nashville, Tenn., May 5.—The Regular Democrats of the Senate and House in caucus to-night adopted a resolution declaring that they would not treat with the Fusion Democrats so long as they remained out of the State. It was further resolved to keep the caucus session so long as necessary to prevent the calling of an extra session. Efforts at compromise are still in progress.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

Interesting Exercises at Williamsburg—Norfolk Convocation to Meet.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Williamsburg, Va., May 5.—The annual Memorial Day exercises were held here this afternoon by the Williamsburg Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The members of the chapter and the school children assembled at the home of Miss Lettie Ward, on Palace Green, and marched to Bruton Churchyard.

Assembling around the Confederate monument, the children sang "Dixie," after which the graves of the soldiers in the churchyard were strewn with flowers.

After prayer by Rev. E. Ruffin Jones, rector of Bruton Parish Church, Rev. M. J. Hoover, pastor of the Williamsburg Baptist Church, delivered an eloquent and patriotic memorial address.

The exercises were closed with the benediction by Rev. R. L. Walton, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the assemblage.

Memorial exercises were attended by the little remnant of Confederate veterans composing Magruder-Ewell Camp. Following the decoration of the graves in Bruton Churchyard, the Daughters of the Confederacy proceeded to Cedar Grove Cemetery, where the graves of the soldiers buried there were covered in flowers.

The Williamsburg session of the Norfolk Convocation will meet in Bruton Parish Church on Monday, May 15. On Sunday, May 14, Right Rev. A. M. Randolph will administer the rite of consecration, and Sunday night Rev. Z. S. Farland, of Richmond, will deliver the annual sermon before the Young Men's Christian Association of Williamsburg and Mary College, in the chapel of that institution.

Among ministers who will deliver addresses during the convocation will be the Rev. C. B. Bryan, of Petersburg; the Rev. Beverly Estill, of Hampton; the Rev. A. C. Thomson, of Portsmouth; the Rev. F. R. Lee, of Smithfield; the Rev. John F. Coleman, of Suffolk; the Rev. William A. Brown, of Portsmouth; and the Revs. D. W. Howard and J. M. Owens, of Norfolk.

The convocation will be in session three days, closing Wednesday night, with a missionary mass-meeting, at which there will be three addresses.

Past Grand S. L. Graham, delegate from Hamilton Lodge, L. O. O. F., to the Grand Lodge of Virginia, which meets in Lynchburg next Tuesday, will leave here Sunday morning for Lexington, accompanied by Mrs. Graham and their little daughter.

William E. Clowes, of Amsterdam, N. Y., spent some time here with his cousin, A. T. Clowes.

William and Mary and the Medical College of Virginia Richmond will cross bats on "Cary Field" to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. William and Mary will meet Randolph-Macon in a championship game here Monday afternoon.

Governor William Hodges Mann, who is a native of Williamsburg, was expected here to-day to deliver an address at the Confederate Memorial exercises. A letter received from him yesterday morning conveyed the information that he and Mrs. Mann would spend the day here, but they failed to reach Williamsburg on this morning's train, and nothing was heard from him during the day.

PARTY SPLIT MAY ELECT DEMOCRAT

Minority Likely to Name President Pro Tem. of the Senate.

Washington, May 5.—A Democratic president pro tempore of the Republic can Senate is not beyond the realm of possibilities.

It is possible because of the split in the Republican ranks, a split which became most pronounced during the making of the committee assignments, and which has broken out again in connection with the election of a president pro tempore to succeed Senator Frye, of Maine.

Whether or not a Democratic Senator will be made president pro tempore depends entirely upon the insurgents. If they stand together, they can force it, and without uniting with the Democrats in the election.

At present the Senate is divided as follows: Thirty-seven regular Republicans, thirteen Progressive Republicans, and forty-one Democrats. Suppose the Regulars vote for Senator Gallinger, as they intend; that the Insurgents vote for Senator Bacon, as is proposed, and that the Democrats vote for Senator Bacon, as they intend. Mr. Bacon will get the most votes, and if a plurality is to control he would be elected.

Bacon Would Have Majority.
Or suppose the Regulars cast thirty-seven votes for Mr. Gallinger, and the Democrats cast thirty-four for Mr. Bacon, and the Progressives refrain from voting, rather than vote for Mr. Gallinger. Mr. Bacon would then receive a majority of the votes cast, and unquestionably would be elected. It has been suggested that the Democrats and Progressives might unite on one candidate—either Senator Bacon or Senator Clapp—and their combined votes would easily elect him. This Democratic "say," however, they would not support a Republican, and several of the Progressives who were seen to-day indicated they could not vote for a Democrat; so that suggestion is not much considered.

Thirteen Progressives in the Senate have held no conference looking to united action in the matter, and some of the more conservative among them say they do not consider the question of sufficient importance to make a united fight.

It is known, however, that some of the insurgents who had ambitions for committee assignments, headed by Senator Gallinger, did not grudgingly blame Mr. Gallinger and are taking of not supporting him for president pro tempore. Others of the progressives who are satisfied with their committee assignments, however, and no fault with Mr. Gallinger—in fact, believe he would make an excellent presiding officer.

Should those of the progressives who do not want to support Mr. Gallinger try to force the issue it is believed there might be a split among the progressives. Some of them say that they would not support a progressive candidate, if they knew that course would result in the election of a Democratic President pro tempore.

The Regulars will need five votes to beat out the Democrats on a plurality vote or ten votes to get a majority of the entire Senate.

Talk of the election of a President pro tempore has brought up the question as to whether a majority vote is required or only a plurality. Those around the Senate who are familiar with its precedents say there is no precedent to govern the case.

TURTLE NOT AN ANIMAL.

Judge's Decision Is Against Opinion of Harvard Professor.

Boston, May 5.—Although a turtle was declared by Professor Robert Yerkes, of Harvard University, to be more nearly related to a bird than to a fish, and to possess a highly developed nervous system, capable of memory, intelligence and lovable tendency, Judge Stand, in the Superior Court to-day instructed a jury to bring a verdict of not guilty in the case of John H. Weiner, a restaurant proprietor, who was charged with cruelty to animals in keeping a 160-pound green sea turtle on its back in a window last summer. Weiner had been $25 in the Municipal Court and appealed.

The defense contended that the charge of cruelty to animals would not hold, on the ground that a turtle was not an animal, but a fish.

MISS GIBBIE GAULT

By

KATE LANGLEY BOSHER.

MARY CARY had to grow up. The rest of her story had to be written—and here it is. You remember her childhood days in Yorkburg. Since then she has been living in the West, and we meet her on her return, after several years, in this new story—"Miss Gibbie Gault." Most of the characters are new, and Gibbie Gault herself, who is linked to Mary Cary's destiny, is one woman in a thousand. At Yorkburg, in an atmosphere of rose-blossoms and sunshine, romance touches Mary Cary. She blooms into young womanhood, and looks on life—a little older now—with the same sympathy and sweet good humor as in childhood. Hers is a genuine heart story. Gibbie Gault's greatness of heart and quickness of temper—Mary Cary's shy but effective entry into Yorkburg's many interests—the Needlework Guild—the hundreds of incidents of Mary Cary's new life—and especially the One Great Interest—make this a story to read and to love.
